start the year and 7 new members resulted from this evening. Homemakers helped read stories and shared snacks with area elementary schools. Farmer's Market held a plant/bulb swap and a chili cook off between the homemakers and the cattlemen. Apron Friends adopted 2 members from an area rest home to give Christmas and birthday gifts. The Homemakers helped with the Penquin Plunge by contributing money and serving hot chocolate. The Annual Day was held in May and a $500.00 Scholarship was given to a deserving Senior.

Todd County finished a 3 year project of focusing on improving quality of lives of children. The first year, they made blankets to give to first responders and social workers. The second year, they provided the local cabinet for families and children workers with toiletries, socks, toys and gifts to give to their foster children. The third year, they reached out to children served by the Family Resource Centers and provided them with socks, hats, scarves and gloves. They continue to support the Pennyrile Allied Community Services food bank, the Backpack program and Christmas Angels. Several clubs have started supporting Grace and Mercy in Hopkinsville, a non-denominational, non-profit house dedicated to empowering women in crisis.

The Pennyrile Area Homemakers are a very busy group of men and women. Each County supports the UK Ovarian Cancer Research and most counties, if not all, support the Coins for Change. Going through the 7 out of 9 reports I received it is obvious that they are actively involved in their communities in a very large way.

Personally I'm very proud of all our Counties and their clubs. They are very busy and provide many necessary services in their communities. I was very fortunate to be able to attend the County Annual Days of Caldwell, Hopkins, Lyon, Muhlenberg and Todd this year.
