

KENTUCKY EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS ASSOCIATION ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIP FOR FAMILY & CONSUMER SCIENCES STUDENT

For many years KEHA has given scholarships to high school and college students and grants to members and agents for study and projects. In 2007, an endowed scholarship was established with the help of the now Martin-Gatton College of Agriculture, Food and Environment at the University of Kentucky. This scholarship is awarded to a person who plans to pursue a career as a Family & Consumer Sciences Extension Agent. The scholarship is KEHA's effort to help educate new FCS agents who will benefit the entire state.
